

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

LITERARY labor and the wish to preserve historical facts, being almost a passion with me, have been the moving causes for the production of this book. A few years since, while gathering data relating to an old New England family, it was necessary to ascertain the pedigree of her emigrating ancestor to the New World, of a female member of the Norris lineage, who had become connected with it by marriage. This required so much research that before its accomplishment, I gleaned genealogical and historical matter of considerable value relating to her direct line, and also to collateral branches of the Norris family. This was obtained from wills, the administrations of estates, from deeds, the records of towns and churches, from tombstones, from family records, and from information embraced in a very extensive correspondence with members of the Norris family, and from published records.

Subsequently, I decided, in order to preserve facts already obtained, to make a general history of the Norris family. Having this definite plan before me, my investigations and labors were renewed, and have continued till the present, and the result,—the preservation of the annals of another New England family,—is now given to the Norrises and to the general public.

Genealogical works are never remunerative, and are seldom prepared, except by interested persons, as “a labor of love,” or by others, in whom the historical trend is so powerful that they can hardly fail to work, write, and prepare them. I have made a large expenditure of time, labor, and money, and this book is as full in information and as attractive in form, as was possible. I assumed the entire expense of the undertaking. My chief recompense is in the pleasure of this book's preparation, the knowledge that history is preserved, and the thought that others may experience delight in its perusal and possession.

A well prepared book of genealogy and biographies is of great value because of its relation to local and general history, and it preserves a vast amount of information which otherwise would be lost. Lands and homes are located and described, the manners of life of bygone generations are delineated, and they who have long been sleeping are, by the published records of their lives, made familiar acquaintances of the present generation. The life-history, with the toils, struggles, sacrifices of our predecessors is made known to those of the present, for their benefit and loyal appreciation. The fathers and mothers of the long ago, live again in their descendants.

My task is over. They who have kindly furnished me information and records of themselves or others, have my sincere thanks. They who from any cause neglected my oft repeated and urgent request to impart desired knowledge, may, when too late, regret their indifference.

I experienced considerable difficulty in securing a sufficient number of subscribers in the Norris family to liquidate the expense of publication, not to mention the expense of preparation, of this book. At this critical juncture Hon. Lyman Decatur Norris, of Grand Rapids, Mich., very wisely and generously aided in a substantial manner, and made sure the publication of this work. To him I, with every member of the Norris Family, am greatly indebted for his generosity and aid in the preservation of this family history.

In this book errors will appear, but of the materials forwarded me, the best possible use has been made.

They who have inserted engravings of themselves, or others, have my thanks.

Trusting that this history will meet the reasonable expectations of the general public, and the far scattered members of this early New England family, it is committed to them with the hope that the recorded lives of those found within its pages may not speedily pass from their memories.

INTRODUCTION.

THE FAMILY AND NAME OF NORRIS.

THE early patronymic was Norrey and Norreys, through which the modern name shines as clearly as the sun does through thin and broken clouds. The family is an ancient one in England. For many centuries it has flourished in Sutton and Lancashire. In A. D. 1311, Sir Henry Norreys, by marriage with Joan, daughter of Sir Henry Molyneux, acquired the Manor of Speke, in Lancashire, England.

William Norreys, of Sutton, was descended from Alain Norreys, who in a remote time dwelt on the same estate. From him are descended the celebrated families of the name of Norris in Speke, Lancaster, and Ryecote, in the County of Berkshire.

Thomas Norreys¹ of Speke, was father of Nicholas Norreys², Esq., of Tarleton, who was succeeded by a son, Nicholas Norreys³, of Tarleton. A son of the latter, Nicholas Norreys⁴, of the same place, was followed in the possession of his name, by his son, Nicholas Norreys⁵, of Middleworth, County of Lancaster, whose son, Nicholas Norreys⁶, of Middleworth, born in 1633, was succeeded by his son, Henry Norris⁷. It will be noticed here the name changes to the form generally used in more modern times. It is also interesting to observe that the Christian name Nicholas, which was borne by the heads of five successive generations of this family name, is the same as carried by the early emigrant and settler, Nicholas Norris, who was a resident of New Hampshire in 1663.

After the change in the orthography of the name to Norris, as previously stated, it was so written by many of the descendents of Henry Norris, for many generations, and then by some of them, in recent times, was again altered to the original form.

Many of this blood have been distinguished, in times past, and numerous members bear the name with high honor at the present. Sir Henry Norris, of Ryecote, was granted a peerage in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Early, some of the English Norrises settled in Ireland; one branch lived in Armagh, and claim descent from Sir Henry of Ryecote, Berkshire. Among the noted members of the Armagh family, was Sir William Norris, who died in 1859. He was once Chief Justice of Ceylon, India, and his father was President of the College of Surgeons in London. A son of Sir William Norris, is W. E. Norris, of Underbank, Torquay, England, an author of high repute.

NORRISES EARLY IN AMERICA.

In the records in the City Hall at Leyden, Holland, is the recorded fact, that Mary Norris, a girl of Newbury, England, was married to Isaac Allerton, Nov. 11, 1611. He was of London, England, and they were of that Pilgrim Colony who located in Leyden. She came as a passenger in the Mayflower, to Plymouth, Mass., in 1620.

On June 10, 1635 Jo: Norris was one of those to be transported "to the Bormoodoes or Somer Islands imbarqued in the True love de London."

Rev. Edward Norris, between whom and Nicholas Norris, of New Hampshire, there is no known connection. The former was a Non-Conformist minister. He was born in England in 1579; resided at Tedbury and at Horseigh, Gloucestershire, and was a great deal in Bristol. He was an author of considerable repute, a teacher of standing, and a preacher. Had works published in London in 1636 and 1638. He came to America, joined the church in Boston, Mass., July 21, 1639; was in Salem, Mass., in 1640. He married Eleanor —, and died in Salem, Dec. 23, 1659. His son Edward Norris, Jr., was in Salem, Mass., in 1639, was a teacher in 1640, and died about 1684. The Norrises of Salem, Mass., are largely the descendants of Rev. Edward Norris, while those of New Hampshire, and many in Massachusetts, are the descendants of Nicholas Norris, of Exeter, N. H.

Nicholas Norris, of Exeter, N. H., was in Hampton, N. H., previous to Jan. 21, 1663-64; probably as early as 1654.

Benjamin Norris came from England in 1690 and settled in Hartford county, Md. He had several sons, and the eldest was named John Norris. Two of his sons settled in Virginia. Among Benjamin Norris's descendants is Col. Basil Norris, M. D., at the Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, Cal., He is an officer in the U. S. Army, in 1892.

Philip Norris, of Lancashire, England, was married in Boston, Mass., to Mary Bennett, of that place, Dec. 12. 1707.

Though the moments “glide swiftly away,” yet we should “be ashamed to die” till we have accomplished something which adds to human knowledge, and increases human joy.

HISTORY OF THE NORRIS FAMILY.

1. Nicholas Norris¹, was the progenitor of this family. His probable date of birth was about 1640. By occupation he was a tailor and planter, and was an early resident of Hampton, N. H. The tradition in regard to his origin is that he was of English extraction, being a descendant of one of the English settlers in Ireland, where he was born. That he was "a stowaway" in an emigrant ship, and arrived in America when fourteen years of age. He belonged to that goodly throng who at that early day emigrated to New Hampshire to develop and found a successful and prosperous State.

He married Sarah Coxe, 11th mo. 21st day, 1663. This is the first record of him in Hampton. On Sept. 29, 1666, he deeded a dwelling-house and three acres of planting land in Hampton to John Godfrey. That same year he appeared in Exeter, N. H. In 1677 he took the oath of allegiance, desired the jurisdiction of Massachusetts in 1690, and was a soldier in garrison from Aug. 3 to Aug. 31, 1696, under Kinsley Hall. His home was near Meeting-house hill in Exeter Village.

On March 8, 1720-21, ten acres of land were laid out to him by the town of Exeter, on the "north side of a masteway leading from Col. Hilton's to Pawtuckawaye Mills," it being the southwest corner of John Sinkler's fifty acres of land. He deeded away land June 10, 1721, which is the last reference to him found upon any record. He must have died soon after that date.

Tradition in relation to him has about died out, but it is said that he was fond of athletic sports, and was an expert in the use of his hands. He was a resident of Exeter for fifty-seven years, performing his duties as a friend, neighbor, citizen, and then disappeared from view. His descendants have become like the sands of the sea for multitude.

10. Elizabeth Norris², b. Sept. 4, 1683; no record.

11. Moses Norris² (5) [Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., Aug. 14, 1670, and always lived in Exeter. He received sixteen acres on "road to Hampton Farms," from his father, April 9, 1698, and the same date he received land from his father-in-law, Samuel Folsom, of Exeter, N. H. He married March 4, 1692, Ruth, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Robey) Folsom, and granddaughter of John Folsom, the immigrant to Exeter.* He served as a soldier from Aug. 31, 1696, to Sept. 28, 1696.

On Feb. 2, 1720-21, "for fatherly love and affection" he deeded land to his children, they to come into possession "after ye decease of me and my present wife, Ruth Norris." By this deed, and others, all of his children can be identified. No farther record of the settlement of his estate is upon the public records. The date of his death is unknown, but he lived for a number of years after making the deed of Feb. 2, 1720-21.

CHILDREN, BORN IN EXETER, N. H.

12. Samuel Norris³ (26), b. about 1693; d. before Oct. 30, 1754; res. Exeter, N. H.

18. James Norris³ (54), b. about 1702; d. Dec. 20, 1768; res. Epping, N. H.
19. Ruth Norris³, b. about 1704. She was under 18 years of age on Feb. 2, 1720-21, when her father deeded property to his children; she was to have some personal property and a room in her father's house.

20. Jonathan Norris² (6) [Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., March 5, 1673. He settled in that portion of Exeter which afterwards was included in the town of Stratham, N. H., where he resided until his death. On March 14, 1716, he with others signed a petition for the incorporation of the township of Stratham, which was granted. Was called husbandman. He married Lydia —, who survived him. His will was made March 20, 1718; probated July 23, 1718. At least two of his children, Benjamin Norris³, who succeeded him in house and lands, and Jonathan Norris³, were under 21 years of age when his will was made.

* John Folsom came from England, in the "ship Diligence, of Ipswich," in 1638.

CHILDREN, BORN IN STRATHAM, N. H.

21. Benjamin Norris⁸ (70), m. Mehitabel Stevens, Dec. 14, 1727; res. Stratham, N. H.
22. James Norris⁸ (81), lived in Chester, N. H.; d. in Epping, N. H.
23. Jonathan Norris, Jr.⁸ (90), res. Stratham, Exeter, and Epping, N. H.
24. Lydia Norris⁸, m. Dr. Jeremiah Robinson.
25. Abigail Norris⁸, m. Joseph Prescott, of Hampton, N. H.

26. Samuel Norris⁸ (12) [Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., probably about 1693, and he always resided in his native town. His father deeded him land Feb. 2, 1720-21; he was to receive one-half of his father's homestead after his father's decease, the land "to be on that side and adjoining Joseph Robinson's land throughout both upland and swamp," and also one-half of the land lying "on the east side of the road leading from Hampton Town to Exeter." His brother, Joseph Norris, had the other half of the homestead. The land owned by them was undivided, and was sold after his death, by deed given by his wife, Ruth Norris, and Samuel Norris, as his heirs-at-law, and Joseph Norris, of Epping, Oct. 30, 1754, with buildings and orchard, to Richard Dole, of Rowley, Mass. Samuel Norris inherited from his father one-eighth of a sawmill at Petuckaway. He dealt somewhat in real estate, and the last sale of land made by him, found upon the records, was made May 18, 1753, of forty acres in Exeter, to Jonathan Douse, of Hampton, N. H. He married Ruth —, who survived him. He died before Oct. 30, 1754.

CHILD.

27. Samuel Norris⁴ (92), b. Exeter, N. H., probably about 1714; res. Epping, N. H.; d. before Feb. 27, 1765.

28. John Norris⁴ (13) [Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., O. S., Dec. 25, 1694. He was a soldier about 1710, for sixteen weeks and two days, in Capt. Shadrach Walton's company. By a gift deed of land from his father, on April 25, 1720, he received land on the east side of the road leading from Hampton Town to Exeter, "ninety rods in length and ye thirty rods in Breadth." His name is upon the list of those who received land from Exeter in 1725. He received thirty acres. He sold land May 16, 1732, to Jabez Sanborn, of Hampton, N. H. He signed a petition in 1741 for the incorporation of Epping, and against a bridge at the Newfields in 1746.

His home was in what is now West Epping, on the farm owned in 1892 by his descendant, Israel Francis Norris. He married Sarah Knight, who was born June 5, 1710, and who died Dec. 20, 1781. He died in Epping, Nov. 8, 1766. The record of only one child has been obtained.

CHILD, BORN IN EPPING, N. H.

29. Israel Norris⁴ (100), b. May 3, 1740, O. S.; m. Sarah Jenness, b. June 25, 1754. He d. Oct. 27, 1826; res. Epping, N. H.

30. Moses Norris, Jr.³ (14) [Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., about 1696, as he purchased land May 8, 1718. He saw military service, and a muster roll signed by him was allowed Dec. 12, 1724. On April 28, 1726, he was in a company of men commanded by Capt. John Gilman, and rendered five days' service. On Oct. 9, 1731, he purchased "one message" in Nottingham. There he was an innholder, and entertained the public.

He married Lydia, daughter of James Rundlett, of Stratham, and a sister of Theophilus Rundlett. He dealt largely in real estate, lived in Nottingham until about 1745, when he bought land in Epping, and soon after appeared there, where he spent the remainder of his life. He made his will Aug. 23, 1750, admitted to probate court Aug. 16, 1751, showing that he died between those dates. His wife, probably, died Jan. 23, 1795, aged 96 years.

CHILDREN.

31. Elizabeth Norris⁴. She was to receive £150 in two months after her father's decease.
32. Sarah Norris⁴, m. Mr. Smart. She had part of land at Petuckaway lower mill.
33. Ruth Norris⁴. She was to receive £150 in three months after her father's decease.
34. James Norris⁴ (109), b. Feb., 1728; res. Epping, N. H. He was the executor of his father's will. He d. Nov. 6, 1814.

35. Nicholas Norris⁵ (15) [Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., about 1698. By a deed from his father, Feb. 2, 1720-21, he received one-half of right to stream and falls, "on which my sawmill at Petuckaway stands." He married, Dec. 19, 1723, Elizabeth, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Fanning, of Portsmouth, N. H., and soon after moved to that city, where he spent the remainder of his life. He was the only one of his name taxed in that city until 1744, and his home was on the south side of the mill-dam. He was last taxed in 1761, and died before the assessment of taxes in 1762. Mrs. Norris was deceased before March 20, 1765.

CHILDREN, BORN PROBABLY IN PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

36. Moses Norris⁴, b. about 1725; res. in Portsmouth, N. H.; called himself "laborer" in a deed March 20, 1765, when he sold all right in his father's estate to his brother, Jonathan Norris. He was taxed in 1766 and d. before taxes were assessed in 1767. No record of wife or family.
37. Jonathan Norris⁴, b. about 1727; res. Portsmouth, N. H. On Nov. 5, 1766, he and his brother, Joseph Norris, sold land to their brother, Samuel Norris. There is some confusion in regard to persons of this name in Portsmouth. One Jonathan Norris was "dead" in 1761; another appears upon the tax-list in 1763, and is "Gone" in 1770. This Jonathan Norris appears to have been there in 1772, and then he disappears, probably died. His wife was probably the Ruth Norris, widow of Jonathan Norris, who had her thirds set off, and which land was sold to Moses Norris⁵, a nephew of Jonathan, on March 5, 1811.

38. Samuel Norris⁴ (117), b. about 1728; res. Portsmouth, N. H.; d. in 1821; was taxed for last time in that year.
39. Joseph Norris⁴, b. about 1730; res. Portsmouth, N. H.; on Nov. 5, 1766, he deeded land with his brother Jonathan to their brother, Samuel Norris. He was there Jan. 25, 1772, and was taxed until 1807, and his "Heirs" until 1827, when they dropped out.*

40. Joseph Norris³ (16) [Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., about 1700, as he was apparently of age when his father deeded land and property to him and other sons, Feb. 2, 1720-21. He was to have one-half of his father's homestead, and his father's house. He received one-eighth of sawmill at Petuckaway, now West Epping, N. H. He and his brother, Samuel Norris, had five acres of meadow together. His home was in what is now Epping, and was included in that township when it was cut off from Exeter in 1741. He sold land to his brother, Jonathan Norris, of Exeter, N. H., Dec. 3, 1735; signed a petition for the incorporation of Epping in 1741; was fence viewer in 1744; signed a petition against a bridge at Newfields in 1746; and March 5, 1747, that a scout of men might be sent to protect Nottingham from the enemy. Joseph Norris and Elizabeth, his wife, on Oct. 21, 1747, sold land to Josiah Ladd, which belonged to their honored father, Jeremiah Bean, of Exeter, deceased. On Dec. 9, 1755, he sold land to Nathaniel Brackett. He sold 47 acres "to my son Joseph" Norris, Jr., Feb. 8, 1775 (David Norris was a witness). On Nov. 22, 1788, he and his wife, Joanna Norris, and his son, Joseph Norris, Jr., and his wife, Rebecca Norris, sold to Daniel Tilton, of Exeter, 12 acres in Epping, and is "our Homeplace where we now live." It was about a mile west of Epping Corner, on the north side of the Rundlett road (Jeremiah Norris was a witness). He sold land to his brother, Jonathan Norris, of Exeter, which the latter sold to Peter Gilman, April 20, 1744, "and which belonged to my father's homeplace." Mr. Gilman married Mary Norris. He sold to Joseph Norris, Jr., 60 acres in Barnstead, Dec. 8, 1786, and on March 7, 1787, he sold "to son, Joseph Norris, Jr., the homeplace where I now live," being 60 acres on Joseph Purrington's land (Jeremiah Norris, a witness). He sold to Daniel Tilton, Nov. 3, 1786, 18 acres, "where my son, Jeremiah Norris, now lives."

He married Elizabeth, daughter of Jeremiah Bean, of Exeter, N. H., and married, 2d, Joanna —. He died about 1788, as he disappeared from the records at that time.

He received one-eighth of a mill at Petuckaway. When he arrived at manhood's estate he lived in that portion of Exeter which was included in Epping, on the incorporation of that town in 1741. His home was about one and one-half miles from West Epping, on the farm owned in 1892 by Jonathan P. Sanborn. He was a farmer and miller, owned large tracts of land, and dealt largely in real estate. In May, 1724, he was a soldier in Capt. Daniel Ladd's company, and scouted for Indians, near Lake Winnepesaukee, for six days. He signed the petition for the incorporation of Epping in 1741, and the early town meetings in that town were often called at his house. He was an active, prominent, and leading man in that community, and frequently filled offices of public trust, serving certainly as moderator in 1742, '47, '51, '64, and selectman in 1745, '49, '50, '54, and was one of a committee to hire a minister, and to build a meeting-house, in 1745. He married Mary —, who died Sept. 19, 1766. He married, 2d, Mrs. Alice Mitchell, widow of Joshua Mitchell of Newmarket. Mrs. Norris administered upon her former husband's estate. Mr. Norris made his will Oct. 12, 1768; died Dec. 20, 1768; will was proven Dec. 28, 1768. His son, Josiah Norris, was executor. Mrs. Norris' dower was set off May 28, 1770.

90. Jonathan Norris, Jr.^s (23) [Jonathan², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Stratham, N. H., after 1700, being a minor at time of making of his father's will. He was a resident of Stratham till he had reached the meridian of life. On Dec. 9, 1738, he bought 80 acres of land in Exeter, and in the spring of 1739 he moved to Exeter, to that portion which is now included in Epping. He signed the petition for the incorporation of that town in 1741. He was a farmer and mill-owner. He was constable in 1746. The meeting-house in Epping, built about 1745, was erected upon his land, and the town declined, on Feb. 19, 1749-50, to remunerate him for it. He married Lydia, daughter of Jonathan Taylor, of Hampton, N. H., and he and his wife deeded, on July 12, 1748, all right to his estate, to brother John Taylor, of Hampton. He died before Oct. 21, 1773, as at that date administration of his estate was granted to his son, David Norris.

133. Jeremiah Norris⁴ (43) [Joseph³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Epping, N. H., about 1750, as his name first appeared upon the tax list of that town in 1771. He purchased, Nov. 30, 1770, 50 acres in Chichester, N. H., of Joseph Norris, and soon after removed to that town, and was living there Nov. 3, 1773. He married Mary ——. They sold property in Chichester, on May 1, 1781, and immediately removed to Candia, N. H., as they were living there on June 29, 1781. On Dec. 14, 1784, they sold their land and buildings in Candia, and went back to his native town of Epping, where he was living on Nov. 13, 1786, when his father, Joseph Norris, sold to Daniel Tilton 18 acres, "where my son, Jeremiah, now lives." He then disappeared.*

134. Jonathan Norris⁴ (46) [Jonathan³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., Sept. 11, 1749. By the will of his father he received one-half of his real estate in Exeter, and one-half of his sawmill and gristmill, and on May 3, 1774, he was appointed guardian of his minor brothers, Samuel and James Norris, of Exeter. He lived in Exeter, and when the Revolutionary war broke out he was in the full strength of his manhood, and he engaged with enthusiasm in the service of his country. On Sept. 20, 1776, he was an ensign in Capt. Daniel Gordon's company, Col. Thomas Tash's regiment, raised to reinforce the Continental army in New York. He was a second lieutenant in Capt. Zebulon Gilman's company, Col. Stephen Evans' regiment, and joined the Continental army in New York, and served from Sept. 8, to Oct. 29, 1777. On Dec. 19, 1778, he sold to John Philips, of Exeter, land left him by his father's will.

135. Benjamin Norris⁴ (51) [Jonathan³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born Aug. 15, 1753, in Exeter, N. H. He inherited one-half of his father's real estate in Exeter, and of his sawmill and gristmill, by his father's will.

He was a resident of Exeter during the Revolution, or a part of it, and was a soldier in the service of his country. On Sept. 26, 1775, he was at Sewall's Point, in Col. Laommi Baldwin's regiment. He was a "cordwinder," and on Feb. 4, 1777, he sold some 55 acres in Exeter, bounding on his brother, Jonathan Norris, to John Philips, of Exeter.

136. James Norris⁴ (52) [Jonathan³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Exeter, N. H., Nov. 10, 1755, and resided there until middle life. 168. Maj. James Norris⁴ (62) [James², Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was a resident of Epping, N. H.; born there April 9, 1739. By his father's will, proven Dec. 28, 1768, he received one-half of the homestead and of the buildings. He repeatedly went from his town as a soldier in the war of the Revolution, and rendered valiant and efficient service; was early a commissioned officer, and in 1775 was a captain of the 9th company, 2d N. H. regiment, commanded by Col. Enoch Poor. He entered the service May 25; mustered in June 17, 1775, the day of the battle of Bunker Hill. On the succeeding day, at 11 o'clock A. M., he was directed to march his men to Cambridge, Mass., and join the army without the loss of time. He served two months and eleven days.

* For children of all these, see the "Prescott Memorial."

On Nov. 8, 1776, he was commissioned a captain in the 2d battalion, 2d N. H. regiment, in the Continental service, for three years. This was commanded by Col. Enoch Poor. He participated in the sharply contested action at Castleton, and was reported slain, and perhaps was taken prisoner July 7, 1777, at Hubbardston, Vt. On the 20th of Sept., 1777, he was promoted to be a major in the 3d regiment of N. H., commanded by Col. Alexander Scammel, and shared in the memorable campaign of Gen. John Sullivan against the Indians in Western New York in 1779. During this period he kept a journal, and the original manuscript is now in the possession of the Historical Society, Buffalo, N. Y. It has been published entire in connection with the history of General Sullivan's Indian expedition, 1779, published in 1887 by the State of New York. In the battle at Newtown (now Elmira), N. Y., he participated, and after the conclusion of this hazardous and successful campaign he returned to the abode of civilization in safety. He continued in the service until about July 5, 1780, when he left the service, probably by the expiration of his term. He returned to Epping, N. H., and for several years performed his duties as a citizen.

After the Revolution, and late in life, he joined the tide of emigration to the eastward and located in Monmouth, Kennebec co., Maine.

He married, in Epping, Mary, daughter of Capt. Joseph and Lydia (Eastman) Chandler, of that town. Her father lived on Oak Hill, one mile from Epping Centre, and near the home of the late Governor Plumer. She was born April 26, 1751, and died June 4, 1818, in her 68th year. He died Nov. 15, 1816, in Monmouth, Me.

He lived in Stratham, but on Aug. 4, 1769, he purchased fifty acres in Canterbury, N. H., and immediately moved to that town, which embraced the present town of Northfield, N. H., and he was a resident in that town after its incorporation, June 19, 1780. He and wife, Annie Norris, sold fifty acres in Northfield, Dec. 13, 1780, and again Dec. 18, 1783. He served in Capt. Benjamin Sias's company, Col. David Gilman's regiment, destined for New York; enlisted April 5, 1776, served three months and eleven days; was in the battles of Trenton and Princeton. He was a soldier in Capt. Benjamin Sias's company, Col. Thomas Stickney's regiment, Gen. John Stark's brigade, which marched from Loudon and adjacent towns, and joined the Northern Continental army July 20, 1777; discharged Sept. 20, 1777. He was sergeant in the "Train Band" and "Alarm List" in Canterbury during the Revolution. In one of the battles in which he was engaged he was severely wounded by a ball shot into his leg below the knee, and which he carried to his grave. After the Revolution his buildings were burned, and he removed to Peacham, Vt., then called Deweysburgh. He was poor, the country new, and he and his family endured great privations. After a few years he sold his farm, and spent a few years in Hardwick, Vt., then removed to Brownington, Vt., living on a farm of his youngest son. Later he lived with his son Benjamin in Peacham, but at last he and his wife went to Hardwick, and lived with their son, Mark Norris, when they died the same year in great age. He married Annie, daughter of John Taylor. She was born in Stratham, N. H., July 22, 1739. She was a person of marked piety.

264. David Norris⁴ (91) [Jonathan, Jr.³, Jonathan², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Epping, N. H., about 1746, and first appeared upon the tax list of that town in 1767. His father sold him the home place of about 100 acres, with buildings, Sept. 21, 1765. He married Deborah —.

The world evidently did not go well with him, and he made repeated sales of his homestead in Epping, where he resided. He sold to Theophilus Norris 9 acres, Sept. 9, 1781; on July 8, 1783, to John Sanborn, and on Dec. 4, 1787, all right in the dwelling house in which they lived, with orchard and land it stands on, to Noah Robinson. He became very poor, and was aided by the town of Epping for several years, at least nine years. He probably died in 1799, as Jan. 8, 1800, the town paid Lieut. Nathaniel Maloon $75, in full for supporting David Norris and wife, and funeral charges.

265. Benjamin Norris⁵ (93) [Samuel⁴, Samuel³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born about 1733, and succeeded his father on the homestead in Epping, N. H., having inherited it by his father's will. He lived upon it, and sold a portion Nov. 7, 1768. His name is frequently found upon the records as having bought or sold real estate, and frequently sold portions of his home farm. On Oct. 19, 1789, he and wife, Mary, deeded a part of the homestead to Jeremiah Smith, of Epping. He married Mary, daughter of John and Abigail Fullonton, of Epping, N. H.

287. Zebulon Norris⁵ (95) [Samuel⁴, Samuel³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born about 1736, in Epping, N. H. By his father's will, admitted to probate court, March 26, 1766, he received 140 acres in Nottingham, N. H., in second range, third division, a part of twenty-first lot, with one-third of sawmill and stream, and one-third of twenty acres where most convenient for mill purposes. Administration of his father's estate had previously been granted to his mother, Mary Norris, Feb. 27, 1765, and on May 13, 1765, he sold to Jonathan Norris, of Epping, one-fourth part of number twenty-one, second range, third division, in Nottingham, given to him in the will probated the following year, with dwelling house and barn with the house. On same date he sold land and buildings where he lived, in Epping. He had purchased the latter place of Jeremiah Norris (then of Nottingham), April 1, 1765, who had bought it of Samuel Blake, of Epping. He married Margaret, daughter of Mathew Nealey, of Nottingham, N. H., and they sold, Nov. 1, 1769, to Joshua Stevens, her portion of her father's estate. He lived in Northwood; on June 9, 1774, he signed a petition for the appointment of Benjamin Hill for justice of the peace.

On Sept. 15, 1775, he signed a petition against the appointment of Capt. Jeremiah Folsom to the office of lieutenant-colonel of the 4th regiment of militia. Zebulon Norris served two months and eleven days, from Jan. 5 to March 15, 1777, in Capt. Daniel Gordon's company, Col. Daniel Gilman's regiment, which re-enforced the Northern army in New York. On May 22, 1779, he and wife, Margaret, of Northwood, sold land to Joseph Nealey. They sold land in Northwood to Moses Hoyt, May 2, 1780, and soon after were in Loudon, N. H. On June 30, 1783, they sold land in Canterbury to David Mason, and on April 10, 1784, they sold 60 acres with buildings to Greene Parker, of Hopkinton. He was next in Loudon, and in 1786 he signed a petition for the appointment of Joshua Morse for justice of the peace, and then disappeared from view.

288. Francis Norris⁶ (102) [Israel⁴, John³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. Epping, N. H., was his birthplace, where he was born, Tuesday, Feb. 4, 1777. His home was in the west section of the town, on the farm occupied in 1892 by his son, Israel Francis Norris; by occupation a farmer. He married, Dec. 26, 1803, Betsey, daughter of Theophilus and Elizabeth (Briar) Norris, first of Epping, where she was born Dec. 4, 1783, and died in Epping. He died April 29, 1849.

For four years he was on the suite of Surveyor-general Whitlow, and aided in surveying all the northern towns of the state, which was then a wilderness. He purchased, with his brother, a farm in Chelsea, the present capitol of Orange county. On Jan. 1, 1792, he married Hannah Kelly, who was born in Epping, April 5, 1772. On the same day his sister, Priscilla Norris, married Abel Heath, and his sister, Leah Norris, married Joseph Heath; they were brothers and with him they all went to Vermont. Three of his brothers became his neighbors in that state. He lived in Chelsea for thirty-five years, where his large family of eleven children were born. Relatives were in Vershire and Corinth, Vt. Eventually his brothers died, his children went to Boston, Mass., and feeling lonesome in the old home, and as his cousins, Moses and Richard Smart, lived in Rumney, N. H., he was induced to purchase a farm near them. He removed to Groton, N. H., where he lived until his death, and nine of his children and his wife survived him.

Possessing much physical power and endurance, with great force and energy of character, he was well equipped for the labor in life which he performed. His health was generally good, his hearing and eyesight were perfect to the last. Through a long and busy life he manifested a spirit of devotion to, and a high trust in, God, and for more than half a century was a member of the church, and his labor was large in the introduction of God's work in Vermont, through the channel of the Methodist church. Mrs. Norris was also a devoted member of the church. He left forty-eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. He died in Groton, N. H., Sept. 9, 1849; she died in Boston, Mass., July 18, 1858.

768. Sarah Frances Norris⁷, b. Plymouth, N. H., Dec. 8, 1833. Dr. Sarah F. Norris graduated from a three years' course as a student of medicine, in 1872, spent a year in hospitals, and, in 1873, went to Bombay, India, as a physician for the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions, and remained eight years, and treated about ten thousand women and children each year. The women were Hindoos, Mohammedans, Parsees, Jains, Portuguese, and native Christians. She visited the high and low, in palace and hovel, and kept open a free dispensary for those who were able to come to it for medicine and treatment. At one time a Hindoo princess and her household, including her body guard of two hundred Arabs, temporarily sojourned in an unhealthy portion of Bombay, and were down with the fever, and were Dr. Norris' patients. She was invited by Sir Salar Jung, prime minister of Hyderabad, and acting ruler, to take charge of a dispensary in the city of Hyderabad, and to visit the Mohammedan women in the Zenanas also, at a large salary. Other flattering offers were made to her, but to have accepted them would have closed the dispensary in Bombay, and left thousands of persons without medical relief. To this day, messages come yearly to the "Doctor Madam Sahib," from those women in India, entreating her to come back and heal their diseases. Dr. Norris is now a resident of Boston, Mass.

973. Moses Norris, Jr.⁶ (425) [Moses⁵, Moses⁴, James³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. Hon. Moses Norris was born in Pittsfield, N. H., Sept. 16, 1799, and was fifty-five years of age at the time of his decease. He graduated at Dartmouth College in 1828, with a high reputa- tion for scholarship. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1832, and commenced the practice of his profession in Barnstead, N. H. In the course of two or three years he changed his residence to his native town of Pittsfield, which was his home till 1849, when he removed to the active and stirring young city of Manchester, which was his home at the time of his decease.

His political career commenced in 1837, when he was chosen to represent Pittsfield in the legislature. From that time until his death he was almost continually in the public service. He repre- sented Pittsfield in the House in 1837, '38, '39, '40, and was elected speaker in the latter year. He was a member of the governor's council in 1841, was again a representative from Pittsfield in 1842, and was elected to congress by the democracy in 1843, re-elected in 1845, again represented Pittsfield in the legislature in 1847, and was elected speaker, was re-elected representative in 1848, and in that year was chosen United States senator, to serve for six years from the 4th of March, 1849. He took a strong part and an active inter- est in the legislation of his native state, and in the national con- gress. He was a strong partisan. His native vigor of intellect, improved by study and reflection, never failed to show his conserv- ative action. On life he looked with careful eyes, and his judgment was ripened by large and varied experience. He possessed much firmness of purpose, and his speeches in congress upon the great and exciting questions which then agitated the public mind at- tracted much attention.

In his personal bearing he was genial, and he quickly won the hearts of his acquaintances. While a member of the United States senate, he died of disease of the heart, at Washington, D. C., Jan. 11, 1855, and the funeral was from his home in Manchester, N. H.

His age was 55 yrs. 3 mos. 25 days. He married Abigail Brown Todd, of Portsmouth, N. H., who died with her daughter in Meriden, N. H. She was daughter of Atkins and Rhoda (Choate) Todd.

999. Eliza Ann Blaisdell⁷, b. about 1825; d. æ. 3 yrs.

1000. Martha G. Norris⁶ (435) [Joseph⁵, Moses⁴, James³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. She was born in Barnstead, N. H., Sept. 12, 1798; married, Jan. 20, 1825, Charles Grandison Sinclair⁶, of her native town. He was born in Barnstead, May 4, 1793, was a son of Lieut. Richard Sinclair⁵, and grandson of Col. Richard Sinclair⁴, of that town. The latter was son of Samuel Sinclair³, of Newmarket, N. H., who was son of John², and grandson of John Sinclair¹, of Exeter, N. H., the emigrant ancestor of the family. Charles G. Sinclair inherited a military spirit and took a deep interest in the success of the second war with Great Britain, 1812-'15, and participated in its stirring scenes. He enlisted at Portsmouth, N. H., July 5, 1815, in Capt. P. Lovering's company, 21st regt. regular infantry of the United States, as a corporal, and later was a sergeant in Capt. Morrill Marston's company. He was with a detachment of troops under Lieut. James Pratt, which crossed from Buffalo to Fort Erie, Upper Canada, and joined the American army under General Brown. On the 17th of September, 1815, he participated in the desperate fight with the English, called "the Sortie," where he was severely wounded by a musket ball in the right shoulder. He served until the close of the war, and subsequently was pensioned by the government. He was of fine personal appearance, was an expert accountant. He resided in Barnstead, and from the wound received in the service of his country he never recovered, and died of consumption July 18, 1834.

Mrs. Norris was of the best type of American womanhood. At the age of thirty-six years she was left a widow in destitute circumstances. The long illness of her husband, and two unfortunate suits at law which were undecided at his death, used up their slender income, so that she was left with but seventy dollars in money and a small amount of household furniture, as the worldly substance for the maintenance of herself and her son, John G. Sinclair, then eight years of age. To that boy and the service of her God she devoted the remainder of her life. With her needle she earned their daily bread, and kept her son at school. A devoted Christian, with an unblemished life, she became a member of the Congregational church at Barnstead, N. H. On her removal to Bethlehem, N. H., she united with the Methodist Episcopal church, of which she was a member at her death, February, 1880. She was 81 years of age at the time of her death.

1097. Jewett Norris⁶ (519) [Benjamin⁵, Benjamin⁴, Benjamin³, Jonathan², Nicholas¹]. Hon. Jewett Norris was born in Dorchester, Grant co., N. H., June 1, 1809. The first fifteen years of his life were spent upon the rough, uneven acres of the homestead farm. His advantages for education were meagre, being only such as the district school afforded, and which he attended some three months in the year until his fourteenth year.

After a year or two spent in a country store he went forth into the world to win his way and make his fortune. Three years were spent in Boston, Mass., and vicinity, then he removed to the city of New York, where seven years were spent in a small retail business, when failing health compelled him to seek employment in the open air. Another New Hampshire boy had said "Go West, young man." Young Norris heeded the admonition, crossed the Mississippi river in 1835, and, before the land was surveyed, secured land under the pre-emption laws then existing, and located near where the city of Trenton, Grundy co., Mo., now stands. There he built a log cabin, opened up a farm, and for thirty-five years was actively engaged in farming, in stock raising, and a few years as a country merchant.

He participated in the organization of his new county, acting as county judge and magistrate. For eight years he served as senator in the senate of Missouri. He was a strong Unionist, and introduced some war resolutions, in support of which he made a bold, vigorous, and able speech in the senate in March 19, 1863, taking advanced ground for the prosecution of the war, the punishment of traitors, and abolition of slavery.

He took an active part in the organizing and arming of the loyalists in Missouri, to protect their property and lives from the infesting bands of guerillas who troubled them during the entire war. He served as captain, as post quartermaster at Chillicothe, Mo., where troops were organized and fitted out for the Union army, and afterwards as lieutenant-colonel of enrolled Missouri militia for service at home. It was valuable service he rendered the Union cause.

His family had suffered greatly by sickness, and in 1870, he sought a more healthy locality, and removed to St. Paul, Minn., which is now (1891) his home. He has retired from active business or political life, but he has some farming interests of which he is especially fond.

He cannot forget his old home and old friends in Missouri, where thirty-five years of his active life were passed. It was there he won his successes; it was there his children were born, and there five of them lie buried by the side of the grave of their mother. In the winter of 1890, as a testimonial of his high regard, he left fifty thousand dollars to the city of Trenton, Grundy co., Mo., to establish a free public library and reading room. He married, November, 1837, Sarah Evans, daughter of George and Jane Campbell (Thompson) Peery, who was born in Tazewell co., Va., July 20, 1813. She died June 17, 1858.

In June, 1818, when 17 years old, he was received into the New England conference, and soon became a regular minister of the denomination, and filled appointments at Landaff, N. H., Stanstead, Can., Rochester, N. H., Craftsbury, Vt., Danville and Barre and Malden, Mass., Boston and Weymouth, Mass., Great Falls, N. H., Salisbury, Haverhill, and Methuen, Mass. He was financial agent of the seminary at South Newmarket, N. H., and remained until 1839, and was then sent to Pembroke, N. H., and was superannuated in 1840 by reason of deafness and general debility, and never after did effective work. During his forty years of retirement he preached whenever an opportunity presented itself. For several years he lived in Brooklyn, N. Y., near his son, after whose death he returned to South Newmarket, where the remainder of his life was passed, and where his widow resides in 1890. Mr. Norris had a clear head, a warm heart, and was clear and convincing as a preacher. He was dignified and fearless, and commanded the esteem of friends and respect of opponents, and as a Christian he stood unchallenged in the church and the world.

He married, 2d, in Ypsilanti, Mich., Catherine Doty, who had children. He, with his last wife, lived on a farm at Yankee Springs, Barry co., Mich., where they died, and some of their children live there yet.

1163. Mark Norris⁶ (569) [Benjamin⁵, David⁴, Benjamin³, Jonathan², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Deweysburg, Orange co., Vt., afterwards called Peacham, Feb. 16, 1796. His father was a resident of Peacham, Vt.

He early left the parental roof, going to the Genesee country as a land surveyor, and was located in Covington, Wyoming co., N. Y., sometime previous to 1819, where he engaged in business. He was in trade, and owned an ashery, for making pot- and pearl-ash, and ran a country store. In 1824 he was appointed postmaster. He married, Jan. 13, 1820, Roccena B., daughter of James and Helena (Compton) Vail, of Southold, Long Island, N. Y. She was born in Moscow, Genesee co., N. Y., Dec. 15, 1798. Her great-grandfather came from Wales in 1700, and lived on Long Island. They commenced their married life in a log house, with two windows, an open fireplace, and a crane with hooks for hanging kettles. A ladder in one corner ascended to the loft, containing a bed and stores. In 1827 he went to Michigan, selected his home, and secured a water power at Ypsilanti; moved his family there June 16, 1828. He was thus a pioneer in New York and Michigan. He built a dam across the Huron river, and erected a building for a carding machine, which was soon ready to use. Mrs. Norris opened a school in December, 1828, thus commencing her long life of usefulness in the new community.

In 1829 he was appointed postmaster there, holding his commission until 1837. He was at this time a trader. On the 22d of February, 1834, he was elected vice-president of the Territorial Temperance Society, which met at Ann Arbor, Mich. In 1844 he owned and carried on an extensive flour- and sawmill, and was largely engaged in general business, until 1854 and later. He died, after months of feebleness and great suffering, at Ypsilanti, Mich., March 6, 1862, aged 66 yrs. 18 days.

Mrs. Norris bore this and all sufferings and bereavements with a woman's fortitude, and the faith of a Christian. She was a person of rare strength, faculty, and purity of character; was fond of reading from her youth, and was actively interested in founding a ladies' library association in her city; was connected for over twenty years as a worker with the Ladies' Home Association, of which she was president for sixteen years. This record of service for the unfortunate and the poor, is remembered of her. She passed to her rest on Oct. 27, 1876, and was buried in the beautiful Highland cemetery, from one of whose hills she had obtained her first glimpse of Ypsilanti, nearly fifty years before.*

To such as her—

"There is no death: what seems so is transition.
This life of mortal breath
Is but the suburb of a life Elysian,
Whose portal we call death."

At different periods he resided in Craftsbury, Eden, Newport, and Jay, Vt., but the greater part of his active life was spent in Albany, Vt. Farmer. He had a strong mind and will, and was resolute in carrying out his plans and purposes. He was charitable to the poor; his word was unquestioned, and he won the confidence of his fellowmen. Having met with financial reverses, he gave up his excellent and well stocked farm, and with his wife and six children, went into an unbroken forest in Albany, Vt., built a log house and barn, and commenced life anew. Not a tree had been felled, nor a rod of ground cleared. Mr. Norris cleared the forests and burned them, and those hilly acres he converted into productive and smiling fields, so that before his death they were as smooth as a prairie, and free from protruding stumps and stones. He married Lucinda, daughter of Thomas Cross, of Craftsbury, Vt., and they both died in Albany, Vt. He died Nov. 26, 1873. She died September, 1870.

1441a. Herbert Francis Norris⁷ (291-1) [Israel Francis⁶, Francis⁶, Israel⁶, John⁶, Moses⁶, Nicholas⁶]. He was born in Epping, N. H., July 29, 1849. He was educated in manual labor on his father's farm, and attended the district school, the academy at Raymond, N. H., and graduated, in 1872, from the college preparatory course at the New Hampshire Conference seminary at Tilton, N. H. He ranked high as a scholar, and as a debater in the societies. A severe illness prevented his taking a collegiate course. He was a teacher in several places, and was principal of the academy at Canaan, N. H. He commenced the study of law at Concord, N. H., in December, 1873, and was admitted to the bar in October, 1876, and commenced the practice of law in Concord, with W. T. Norris, of Danbury, N. H., a distant relative, as partner. Mr. Norris is a democrat in politics and has filled many prominent positions. He was secretary of the democratic state committee, a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives in 1877, and a member of the judiciary committee. He was re-elected in 1878, and was the democratic candidate for speaker in the latter year, and won a high reputation as a speaker and leader. His mental resources are large, with perfect self-control, and he is seldom taken by surprise by his political opponents. He received the democratic nomination for congress in 1878, being the youngest nominee for that position since the nomination of Franklin Pierce. Mr. Norris was then less than thirty years of age. He made an active canvass of the district, but failed of an election, although he ran ahead of his ticket.

He removed from Concord to Manchester, and became the senior member of the law firm of Norris & Foster. He always had a fondness for newspaper work and did considerable when studying his profession. He did more work in this line in Manchester, as a special writer, and finally joined the staff of the Manchester Union as leading editorial writer, a position which he held till June 1, 1891, when he became editor of a strong republican journal, the Boston Daily News, in Boston, Mass., which position he holds when this article is printed, in 1892. He married, May 29, 1878, Belle E. Mowers, born June 17, 1854. He resides in Boston, Mass.

John G. Sinclair

was ever true to her ideas of right, was a faithful wife and mother, a helping and sympathizing friend. She was a member of the Methodist church, and died in Bethlehem, N. H., Feb. 10, 1872. Mr. Sinclair married, 2d, July 10, 1874, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth (Pierce) Blandin widow of Willard A. Blandin, and daughter of John and Rebecca (Cushman) Pierce, of Bethlehem, N. H. She was born in that place April 9, 1837. She was a member of the Orthodox Congregational church in Bethlehem, N. H., and upon her removal to Orlando, Fla., her church relations were transferred to the church in that place. She is an earnest worker in the church, and for charitable objects.

Hon. John G. Sinclair was an industrious student, a bright and successful scholar. Nature gave him a strong and muscular frame, and as his health was robust he possessed much animal spirit, and was a great lover of athletic sports, and was full of wit. But life's duties pressed early upon him, and he entered, when 13 years of age, the employ of Webster & Peavey, merchants, in Landaff, and remained six years. He prepared for college at the academy at Newbury, Vt. Entered business life in Manchester, N. H., then in Lawrence, Mass., and in 1847 located in Bethlehem, as owner of a country store, and a manufacturer of starch, and soon won the confidence of his townsmen, and entered political life; was representative in 1852, '53, '54, '55, '62, '63, '76, '77, '78, and was a member of the constitutional convention. In 1873, while a resident of Littleton, he represented that town in the House. In 1858 and '59 he was a member of the state senate. His long and active legislative career had some interesting and brilliant episodes, and he was one of the most daring, brave, and brilliant leaders of the democracy in the state.

In 1866 he was the democratic candidate for governor, but failed of an election. In 1867 he was again standard bearer of his party, and issued his challenge to Gen. Walter Harriman, the republican candidate, to a joint public discussion. It was accepted, and then ensued one of the most interesting and exciting campaigns in the state. Both were fine political orators, and great throngs of people attended each meeting. Their speeches attracted much attention in and out of the state, and many editorials in the leading journals criticized the arguments of the intellectual athletes. The contest was sharp and the democracy was again defeated. In 1868 he was chairman of the New Hampshire delegation to the national democratic convention. His long public career as a citizen of New Hampshire drew to a close in 1879, when he left his home among the granite hills, and established a new home in the sunny south, in Orlando, Orange co., Fla. There he has founded a large and lucrative real estate business, and is engaged in other enterprises. He is still vigorous in mind and body. His intellect is unclouded and his tongue has not forgot its cunning.

A. L. NORRIS.

1869 and '70, he was in Europe, and studied his profession at Berlin and Vienna, under the most noted professors, and at Edinburgh, under the most celebrated teachers and masters, including such eminent men as Sir James Simpson, J. Hughes Bennett, and others. He visited the leading hospitals in central Europe, for observation and study. After about one year's absence he resumed his practice in Cambridge. On May 29, 1873, he married Clara E., daughter of Dr. John L. and Dora Prescott (Rundlett) Perley, of Laconia, N. H., and with his wife immediately took his second European journey, visiting familiar scenes, traveling over the usual routes of visitors, and spending considerable time in medical study under noted professors. On returning to this country he resumed the practice of his profession at Cambridge.

His theme for his graduation thesis at Harvard (1865) "Diaphragmatic Hernia," was suggested by the case of a sergeant in a New York regiment that suffered death a few days after the springing of the Burnside mine, July 30, 1864, in front of Petersburg, Va., which case came under his professional care. His contributions to medical literature have been quite considerable, and have appeared in medical journals. They are of value and are monuments of his love for, and zeal in his profession.

He is a member of various societies, among them being the Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, Boston Society of Medical Improvement, Boston Genealogical Society, Cambridge Medical Improvement Society. In 1890 he was a delegate to the tenth International Medical Congress, at Berlin, and to the British Medical Association, the same year, when, with his wife and son, Albert Norris, he made his third European journey, which included the usual popular resorts and routes and countries, and again returned to Cambridge.

He is a member of the Masonic order, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, Commandery of the State of Massachusetts, the Grand Army of the Republic, being an active worker. The National encampments at Portland, Me., San Francisco, Cal., and St. Louis, Mo., were attended by him. He is a member of other orders and associations of an educational and literary nature. The degree of A. M. has been conferred upon him. He is deserving of great credit for the tireless devotion, love, and care he has from boyhood, or for thirty years, shown his invalid mother, who was without resources, and who still lives, at the age of 81 years. Dr. Norris has a large practice, is learned in his profession, genial and affable in manners, quick to act, resourceful, and deservedly popular among a large circle of acquaintances. Resides 674 Main street, Cambridge, Mass.

Genesee, now Wyoming co., New York, Jan. 22, 1821, and went to Ypsilanti, Mich., when seven years of age, with her parents. From 1834 to '36 in a young ladies' school in Detroit, Mich., and many friendships formed there continued through life. She married, Sept. 23, 1841, Benjamin Follett, of Batavia, N. Y., who had formerly been a cashier in a bank in Ypsilanti. For two years they resided in Alexander, N. Y., returned to Ypsilanti in 1843, which was ever after their home. He was engaged in business with his father-in-law, Mr. Norris. To Mrs. Follett, home and its ties were inexpressibly dear, and its four walls bounded a kingdom ample enough for her ambition. Yet she did not forget the greater interests of the outside world. From her girlhood she had been a member of the Presbyterian church, but in 1856, united with her husband's church, the Episcopal. In 1864, after attending the national democratic convention in Chicago, Mr. Follett was taken seriously ill, and died at Elmira, N. Y., Dec. 26, 1864, leaving his home full of sorrow. Mrs. Follett took an active interest in the benevolent enterprises of the city of her home. She was vice-president or director of the Home Association, which cared for the poor and needy; was also vice-president of the Detroit Home for the Friendless, and was president of the Ypsilanti Ladies' Library Association. Its influence upon the mental growth and culture of the city was very great.

The last four years of Mrs. Follett's life were clouded by many severe illnesses, and much intense bodily suffering. During the last two years her sufferings had been so acute and frequent, that she often longed inexpressibly for the blessed rest of heaven, but her wonderful vitality seemed proof against the fiercest shocks of disease. More than once did her dear ones think, sorrowfully, that the end was very near, yet she would be given back to them from the very arms of death.

Her last illness was one of great physical suffering, but she had again rallied wonderfully, and at her own request, her children had all but one, the youngest, left her and gone back to their duties. In a few days she was seized with a congestive chill, and passed away from earth Sept. 10, 1884. The weary, pain-racked body was laid to rest beside that of the husband of her youth, in beautiful "Highland Cemetery," which now crowns the hill that overlooks the valley of the Huron, and where in the month of June, 1828, she and her mother caught the first glimpse of the home they afterwards came to know and love, for almost half a century. For her is the blissful life of that heaven for which an earnest Christian character, a life of charity and self-forgetfulness, of love to God and her neighbor, had made her ready.*

1659. Lyman Decatur Norris' (1165) [Mark^s, Benjamin^s, David^s, Benjamin^s, Jonathan^s, Nicholas^s]. Hon. L. D. Norris was born at Covington, Wyoming (then Genesee) co., N. Y., May 4, 1823; married Lucy Alsop, daughter of Gen. Chauncey Whittlesey, of Middletown, Conn., Nov. 22, 1854. He is a lawyer. Resides in Grand Rapids, Mich.

In 1841 Mr. Norris entered Michigan University, as its first alumnus, where he remained two years and nine months, then entered and graduated at Yale College, in class of 1845; is also an alumnus of Michigan University, by ad eundem degree, 1869. The calendar of '91-'92 shows 2692 students. He studied law at Detroit, Mich., and was admitted to the bar there in 1847, and in 1848 commenced the practice of law in St. Louis, Mo. In 1850 he went to Europe upon professional business, where he spent the greater part of 1851. He devoted a portion of this time in Heidelberg, to the study of civil law. When but five years at the bar, he was retained on the "Dred Scott Case," which when carried to the supreme court of the United States, became so famous for the far-reaching force of its decision.

He was the editor and half owner, for about a year, of the St. Louis Daily Times. While editor he gave an able editorial on the public and congressional life, record, and speeches of Franklin Pierce, then a candidate for the presidency and unknown in the west. More than 25,000 copies of this number were afterward printed, and the leader was copied in all the democratic journals in the Mississippi valley, and had a strong influence in promoting the success of the democratic ticket.

Lyman D. Norris

Lorin Orville Morris.

The failing health of his father, with his business interests, called Mr. Norris (an only son) back to Ypsilanti, in 1854, where he remained in business and in the practice of the law until 1871, when he removed to Grand Rapids, Mich., which has since been his home, 21 North Prospect street.

He has been some in political life. He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1867. In 1869 he was the democratic candidate for state senator, in Washtenaw county, and introduced the practice of joint discussions, challenging his opponent, Hon. J. Webster Childs, who accepted. The candidates traveled together, and were each other's guest in their respective towns. They were, so long as Mr. Childs lived, warm personal friends. Mr. Norris was elected senator. He was made chairman of the geological survey, and was a member of the judiciary committee, and the committee on education. He took an active and prominent part in the proceedings of the senate, and subsequent events justified the wisdom of his actions and votes upon many important questions. He has been very successful as a lawyer. He is regarded as possessing scholarly attainments, a sound legal mind, and a profound knowledge of the principles of jurisprudence. In 1875 he was the democratic, liberal, and reform conventions' candidate for judge of the supreme court of Michigan. In 1883 he was appointed one of the regents of the University of Michigan. He has the confidence of his fellow citizens and is engaged in the active and successful practice of his profession, with his son, Mark Norris.

1661a. Lorin Orville Norris⁷ (1207) [William⁶, Benjamin⁶, Joseph⁶, Benjamin⁶, Jonathan⁶, Nicholas⁶]. He was born in Ashfield, Mass., March 14, 1846. His father died when Mr. Norris was six years of age, leaving a widow and three small children, and the subject of this sketch was the eldest. His mother taught school in Sanbornton, N. H., and Haverhill, Mass., after the death of her husband, and in 1858, married again and moved to western Massachusetts. At the age of ten years he went forth from home to face the stern realities of life, and never after that period, except for a short time, did he live at home. He spent some time in Methuen, and Northwood N. H., going to school in the winter season. In 1860 he worked for fifty cents a day, hoping to obtain the means for a liberal education. In March, 1861, he entered the academy at Shelburne Falls, Mass., where by the most rigid economy, and by working out of school hours, and during vacations, he was enabled to stay for eighteen months. In October, 1862, he entered the employ of the Revere Copper company, Boston, Mass., which continued for five years, during which he rose to the position of head bookkeeper.

Failing health compelled him to relinquish this position, and in the spring of 1870 he opened a store for stationery, wall papers, fancy dry goods, and small wares, in Methuen, Mass., which he still successfully manages in 1892. In this business he has manifested the same traits of character exhibited in earlier years, and by diligence, attention to the details of his occupation, his trade has increased from year to year. The stern discipline and privations of his early life have given him increased appreciation of home and its comforts which he enjoys after arriving at middle life, and also, sympathy for those, and a willingness to help them, who are worthily striving against adverse circumstances and unfortunate surroundings. He married, Feb. 9, 1870, Mary Elizabeth, daughter of John and Susan Tenney (Kimball) McLaughlin. She was born in Salem, N. H., Sept 9, 1846. She has greatly aided her husband in the struggle of life, and he feels that much is due to her worthy efforts. Mr. Norris is an earnest member of the Baptist church and says he "would count the efforts of life and successes met with as of little value compared with the abiding hope and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ," which he firmly accepts as his own. Resides in Methuen, Mass.

1662. Nancy Maria Norris^s (1854) [Josiah^r, Lewis^o, Benjamin^s, Samuel^l, Samuel^s, Moses², Nicholas¹]. She was born in Danbury, N. Willimantic, Me. Farmer. This family is republican in politics, strongly temperance people, and Mr. and Mrs. Hart and the three eldest sons are members of the Monson Baptist church, and all members of the Sabbath school. They lost four children, three girls and a son, who died when infants

1684a. Josiah Henry Norris⁸ (1409b) [Welcome⁷, Taylor⁶, Samuel⁵, Samuel⁴, Samuel³, Moses², Nicholas¹]. He was born in Boston, Mass., May 27, 1831, and about 1832 went with his parents to Sutton, Vt., where he resided till 1850, except two years spent in learning the trade of a blacksmith in Springfield, Mass. In 1850, with his parents, he removed to Glens Falls, N. Y., where he engaged in business for himself. He was an expert mechanic, and prospered well, having most of the work to do for the numerous lumber mills of the place. He enlarged his business, and at the breaking out of the war, he had the largest wagon and carriage works in the place. In 1862 he enlisted in the war of the Rebellion, and was commissioned captain by Gov. E. D. Morgan, Aug. 10, 1862, in Co. A, 118th regt. N. Y. vols. He raised his company of one hundred strong, composed of the finest young men of the place, and the engine company, of which he was a member, "Old Defiance No. 1," presented him with a sword and sash as he left for the front.

After serving two years with credit, he was discharged on account of severe and dangerous sickness, which prostrated him for nearly a year. Then he again engaged in business, and his property was burned to the ground. He rebuilt his works larger than ever, which were again swept away in the great fire which destroyed the business portion of Glens Falls. These repeated reverses somewhat discouraged him, and he gathered together the property he had left, and removed to the oil regions of Pennsylvania in the spring of 1866, where he has since lived, and for twenty-six years has been engaged in the manufacture of oil-well drilling and fishing tools. He has won the reputation in the oil regions of being the most expert manufacturer of such implements. He has invented, and received patents on, some mechanical devices. His sons, Frank H., and Daniel E. Norris, are associated with him in business. Mr. Norris bears his years well. He is an independent republican in politics, and was elected the first Burgess of Bradford, Penn. Resides in Tiona, Penn. He married, Dec. 31, 1853, Harriet Lucretia, daughter of James and Mary (Newton) Buswell, of Glens Falls, N. Y. She was born in Edinburgh, N. Y., Feb. 12, 1834.

Norris Family Register.

It is of the utmost importance that the records of each family should be faithfully kept and preserved. Then they are always available to inquiring members of the family, and are placed in accessible form for the future historian. Knowing the importance and value of this, and to aid in this commendable and most important work, these pages are inserted, that such records may be faithfully entered and religiously preserved in each copy of this published "Lineage and Biographies of the Norris Family."
